LOUISIANA HIGHWAY COMMISSION TO REROUTE CHEF AUTO HIGHWAY

Commission Announces Plans for Eliminating Grade Crossing—To Build Five-Mile Segment North of R. R.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune announces that the "Louisiana Highway Commission plans for eliminating grade crossings on the Chef highway by 'relocating' a segment of some five miles long." Transferring a unit of the road to the north side of the railroad tracks will make it unnecessary, it is explained, for construction of two costly overpasses. The highway construction cost, it is averred, will be considerably less than the overpasses would cost and the changeover, in addition to elimination of the grade crossings, would eliminate several curves existing in the present highway.

Continuing the Times-Picayune says:

"When the federal government set up its grade crossing elimination fund several years ago, we expressed hope that the Chef highway crossing at Lee and Michaud would be among the first attended to. The federal bureau of public roads made allocations for both, but the state highway authorities reported serious difficulty in securing the needed rights of way. Later it was announced that only one of the two projects would be retained on the state grade crossing program, owing to the heavy cost involved. Now comes the word of the project to eliminate both of these grade crossings from the main highway—an important link on the Spanish Trail—by building a new highway between Lee and Michaud on the north side of the railroad tracks. Property owners have agreed, it is said, to donate rights of way for the new route.

The plan is to build this new five-mile unit as a "divided highway," with two 20-foot "one-way" concrete lanes divided by a 15-foot neutral ground, to remove the danger of head-on collisions. This is the type of highway now endorsed by safety engineers and adopted in several Northern and Eastern states as best for heavily traveled highways. This way of eliminating the Chef highway grade crossings should be welcomed by the motoring public. If its adoption will save money, so much the better. Since it is estimated that construction of the new highway sector will require two years, it is hoped the contracts will be let with the least possible delay.

Annual Carnival Ball And Court Yields Generous Results

At a final meeting of the general committee in charge of the Bay St. Louis Annual Carnival Ball, given under auspices of St. Joseph Academy Mothers' Club, it was announced that $306.00 had been netted, with yet a small bill to be paid, amount of which could not be ascertained at the time.

In view of the fact that there were no raffles and no other mode or sidelines for adding to the gross receipts the results are considered highly satisfactory and stamps the entertainment one of financial success aside from the general social success it scored and is in line with such events of previous seasons. The proceeds, as usual, will be appropriated to the gym debt fund.

SIDNEY C. MIZE TAKES FEDERAL JUDGE'S OATH

Well-Known Gulfport Attorney Assumes High Seat At Biloxi Monday

Monday in the United States Court at Biloxi for the Southern District of Mississippi, Sidney C. Mize, prominent Gulfport attorney, took the oath of office as Judge of the Court, to which he recently was appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The oath of office was administered by Judge Grover Moscovitz of New York, who is serving as special judge of this term of court.

Friends of Judge Mize packed the court room and corridors on this occasion.

After taking the oath, in which he pledged to uphold the constitution of the United States, and to administer justice without respect to persons and to faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all duties of the court, he delivered a short talk.

He expressed appreciation for the confidence placed in him. He pledged fairness in dealing with all matters which come up before him and promised to administer justice to the best of his ability. He expressed a desire to measure up to the standard of the confidence and trust imposed upon him.

Judge Mize will now have charge of the courts at Biloxi, Hattiesburg, Meridian, Jackson and Vicksburg. He is the third judge to preside over the Biloxi court since it was established in 1889 after being moved from Mississippi City, where it was located for 10 years. Judge Henry C. Niles was the first judge of the court. He was succeeded in 1918 by Judge E. R. Holmes.

Judge Mize has been one of the most prominent and most able attorneys in the state for a number of years. He is 49 years old, a native of Scott county. His elementary education was in Forest county, where he graduated in 1905. He attended Mississippi College for several years and then entered the University of Mississippi law school, graduating with highest honors in 1911. He practiced law in Gulfport until he was succeeded in 1918 by his brother, Joe Mize, until the latter died in 1927. In that same year he formed a partnership with Bob Thompson and later with his nephew Webb M. Mize.

Judge Mize is a member of the Harrison County Bar Association, the State Bar Association and the bars of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and the United States Supreme Court. He also has served as special Judge of various courts on numerous occasions.

He has been very active in the political and civic life of Gulfport, his home. He is married and is the father of three daughters.

The management of the ball and for the cause again wishes to acknowledge thanks to one and all who in any way contributed to the success. The response by mail, in person and the large attendance at the ball room on the night of January 30 are all contributing factors that meant for so much and which are hereby thankfully received.

RESULTS RECENT BENEFIT

Statement Financial Side Birthday Ball for the President—Thanks Issued

The recent "Birthday Ball for the President" proved a success in more ways than one and we are extremely pleased to announce results since a final settlement was made to headquarters at New York Tuesday morning when incomplete returns were canvassed and the prorata share check was mailed to Keith Morgan, national treasurer.

It must be remembered that the figures represent only sales of tickets, each dollar donation paying for the price of two tickets.

There were no raffles, no side benefits and no refreshments sold at the ball for the benefit. The highest single donation was $2.00, price of four tickets. The smallest contribution was $1.00.

Total cash receipts at door night of the ball $108.75 Received by other ticket sales 43.45

Total cash $152.25 Total Expense, including $36.00 for orchestra and incidentals $46.70

Net profit of ball $105.55 Mr. C. A. Breath, Sr., owner of the ball room, charged nothing. No personal services were charged for.

The birthday ball for the president was given under the auspices of the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and the Sea Coast Echo newspaper. Chas. G. Moreau was general chairman for the county, and Mrs. M. L. Juden, chamber of commerce, was secretary-treasurer.

The management of the ball and for the cause again wishes to acknowledge thanks to one and all who in any way contributed to the success. The response by mail, in person and the large attendance at the ball room on the night of January 30 are all contributing factors that meant for so much and which are hereby thankfully received.

L. & N. Announces Purchases of New Rolling Stock

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company announces the purchase on January 29 of 2700 all-steel hopper cars and 327 all-steel ballast cars at a cost of $6,800,000.

This equipment will be furnished by the Bethlehem Steel Company, the Pressed Steel Car Company, the Mt. Vernon Car Company and the American Car and Foundry Company.

Work on a portion of the huge order will begin shortly and the cars will be placed in service as completed. All of the cars will be of the standard design of the Association of American Railroads. The 2,700 hopper cars, which are of a 50-ton capacity, will be used in hauling coal. The 327 ballast cars will be used chiefly for hauling ballast for the railroad's track, with occasional service in the transportation of ore and coal.

Increased carloadings and the obsolescence of some cars of these types occasioned the purchase.

SCHOOL LUNCH ROOMS

S. S. C. SENIORS PREPARING FOR PLAY IN NEAR FUTURE

"Friday the Thirteenth" to Be Presented Under Direction of Bro. Alexis

A three-act comedy, "Friday, the Thirteenth," a rollicking farce is in course of preparation by seniors of St. Stanislaus College, under the direct supervision of Bro. Alexis, vice president college, whose experience and ability in such work is well known, a veteran who has had wide experience and presented a number of plays on other occasions and elsewhere.

"The play," an announcement says, "proves to be as unusual a farce as ever made an audience roll in the aisles. It is a story about a boy who loses his job and his girl to someone to whom he has never seen. So he decides to have a good time in one hilarious week at a swell hotel before he settles down to worrying about the future. Arriving at the hotel he finds that his ex-girl friend and his successful rival are already there. Convinced that Lady Luck gave him a dirty deal he deliberately defies all phases of superstition. He and two friends form the Jinx Club. In the end our hero wins his girl and also gets his job back."

Bro. Alexis had prepared "You're The Doctor" last year but a mild epidemic of flu and measles and what not precluded the giving of the play. However, this will not happen this year. A number of under-titles are being coached in the event someone in the cast should be sick.

COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY IN HARRISON COUNTY

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. LaSabe Celebrate Happy Event With Pastor Present.

Potato, bread and dry peas do not make a growing menu. Add some radishes, young onions, lettuce, "greens" with eggs and more fresh milk and the children will grow with the garden.

Slogan: "Growing Gardens for Growing Children."

The School Lunch Program, W. P. A., featuring 541 school lunch rooms in the state, sponsored by parents and organizations in the local community, is calling for home and school spring gardens. Growing children and growing gardens go together. Without fresh vegetables, fruit and milk—the lunch menu is all wrong, says the nutritionist.

Potato, bread and dry peas do not make a growing menu. Add some radishes, young onions, lettuce, "greens" with eggs and more fresh milk and the children will grow with the garden.

Protest: Mississippians entreated with Mississippi's protective foods—vegetables, fruit and milk—and Mississippi's citizenship will show the difference.

Every family represented in one of these lunch rooms, where the bartering system is in effect, can "grow a few rows" for the vegetables supply for the school lunch. Every child can thus make his own contribution to his own lunch. When he eats it, he'll like it. This is a fine idea developed under a good plan for improving the school lunch. Everybody would do well to follow the plan.

RESIDENT LAKESHORE PASSES ON

Mrs. Amanda Ladner Succumbs To Aftermath Surgical Operation

On February 7, Mr. and Mrs. William Yance LaSabe, well-known on both sides of the Hancock and Harrison county line, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their residence R. F. D. No. 2, out from Gulfport, with many relatives and friends present, participating in the celebration.

For the occasion, the Rev. S. J. Sorin, of the church of Our Lady of Good Hope, at DeLisle, who has been the pastor of the couple for over forty years, was present and delivered an address well worthy of such an unusual and beautiful occasion. NEW ORLEANS' CARNIVAL.

PRAISE is unstinted and unanimous in favor of New Orleans' recent Carnival season, the first of its kind after a period of several years.

Conditions the past seven years or more have been anything but favorable and how New Orleans has kept abreast with its various agencies of enterprise and of doing good is well beyond conception. Its community chest project and the various elements of the kind that contribute to the public weal have not in the least suffered. The good people of that city have put their shoulder to the wheel, weathered the rough gale of untoward times and emerged from it all apparently none the worse for the trying experience.

The Carnival season ended is a manifestation of the people's courage and progressive spirit. It is printed there were twenty-four major carnival ball events and a half dozen major parades. Knowing ones are acquainted with the stupendous cost of these respective enterprises. The price and work involved for one parade alone is staggering; the cost of one of the big balls is well a king's ransom, in comparative parlance.

We wish to congratulate New Orleans business and social enterprise on the glamor and artistic beauty of it all. Pageants that cost immeasurably but have been worth that many times more to the morale of the people, to the city and a contributing factor to its future. It takes heroic men and women to do these things. And New Orleans did it.

JUDGE MIZE ASSUMES HIGH POST.

FEDERAL Judge Sidney C. Mize formally took the oath of office at Biloxi Monday and at once entered upon the duties of a high and exalted office of the land.

He was recently appointed by the President, on recommendation of Senator Pat Harrison and subsequently the appointment was confirmed by the Senate. That a better appointment could not have been made is unanimous.

The office is for life and pays $10,000 per annum, with the pay of such assistance as necessary.

The occasion Monday was one of unusual interest and commanded coast-wide attention since Judge Mize is so well known and universally esteemed. Engaged in the practice of law with his late brother, the beloved Joe Mize, he built up a splendid practice, both from a marked personality, his ability and his thoroughly human point of view. No man has felt closer to the people. One of them he has always lived that way. With ever a proper slant on men and matters, a man of equity, probity he has lived that way—a method that has proven true and sound and wins.

It is then an excellent appointment has been made. And we may well expect he will wear the mantel of justice fittingly and becomingly.

WOULD DO US GOOD.

THE Russian trial of those accused of treason ended with the execution of thirteen "comrades" and sent four participants in the alleged plot into long imprisonment.

Naturally, we have no way of passing judgment upon the guilt or innocence of those accused. However, it seems clear that the Russian people are enthusiastic in their support of the Stalin regime and that they applaud the punishment of the defendants in the recent trial.

One thing to be said about Russian justice is its promptness in carrying out sentences. Hardly had the court pronounced death sentence upon the thirteen when it was summarily carried out. While we would not have the United States copy other features of Russian justice, some of the speed in executing sentences of the court would do us a lot of good.

Organized bodies at Biloxi and from other Mississippi Gulf Coast points have held meetings of protests and wired Senators and Congressmen from this section objecting to the waters of the Mississippi river pouring into Coastal waters by way of the Spillway above New Orleans, emptying into the adjacent waters of Lake Pontchartrain. It is not so much that fresh water will cause injury, it is stated, but that the mud caused by the settling of river silt will smother and kill off the oyster supply is emphasized. There seems nothing can be done about it just now even if our oyster crop is worth billions of dollars, with human lives at stake at the other end. The hope is expressed there will not be sufficient of overflow water pouring thru the spillway in time of emergency to warrant even the slightest apprehension.

Newspapers from away continue to carry scare lines to the effect New Orleans' streets are covered with overflow water from the Mississippi river and that the city is in grave danger. One Texas newspaper carried a front page scare head to the effect that eighteen squares of the city were under water and the situation threatening. All of which, naturally, is not only misleading but damaging.

New three-cent stamps in the Army-Navy series go on sale Feb. 18 in Washington. The Army stamp carries the portraits of Generals Sherman, Grant and Sheridan. The Navy's stamp carries portraits of Admirals Farragut and Porter, with a warship of their period between the two officers.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE COURT.

THE President of the United States, backed by what he considers a mandate from the people to carry out his program of remedial legislation, has proposed certain changes in regards to the judicial system of the Federal government.

Most interesting among them is the proposal that, under the certain circumstances, the number of judges on the United States Supreme Court be increased to fifteen. Patently, the suggestion is made because the Chief Executive considers it the easiest way to secure the aims that he has in mind. For reasons well known to himself, he has decided not to seek a constitutional amendment or to await the inevitable death or resignation of a sufficient number of judges to make possible the infusion of "new blood" into the high tribunal of the nation.

There will be considerable discussion of the proposal and hot words tossed everywhere. Predictions will be freely made that, if enacted, the proposal will end the judicial system of the United States and subvert the entire purposes of our government. They will come from learned and wise men, who will be sincere in their utterances. On the other hand, there will be praise of the President's course and denunciation of the "reactionary" Court, coupled with the assertion that unless carried out the freedom of the citizens of the republic will be seriously impaired. These statements, likewise, will come from men learned and sincere.

The views of both sides will be exaggerated and the speeches extreme. The public will live regardless of what happens in this regard and the liberties of the people will be protected. There is no sense in hysteria. As a matter of fact, there is violent disagreement between legislative and executive branches of government and judiciary as to measures and methods proposed to meet the present situation. This is unfortunate, everybody admits. It should be ended, as it will be, sooner or later and the sooner the better for the nation and all concerned.

Whether the President has proposed the wisest course is a matter of partisan opinion. Certainly, in the final analysis, the answer will come from the people. It is, we believe, generally admitted that this is their government and, in the long run, no party or President will get very far by going against the popular judgment.

In the above article we have not attempted to give any idea of our own opinion as to suggestion made by the President. Rather have we attempted to persuade all those who bother to read these columns that there is no occasion for intemperate debate, rabid partisanship or violent denunciation, either of the President or of the Courts. Somehow, we are satisfied that, after the fight is over, the nation will move forward, conditions will improve and Americans will continue to brag about the Constitution, liberty and the republic.

If you owe local merchants small items make a point to pay them up and keep your credit on a worthwhile basis.

MARVEL OF THE RADIO.

THAT we live in a remarkable age is demonstrated in more ways than one and that daily. The span of the past ten years has perhaps brought forth to man more development than at any other one time of same duration.

That the radio takes first place is beyond doubt inasmuch as it serves a larger number of people and is therefore more popular with the masses.

People fond of music, particularly the imperishable operas, may remain at their radio on Saturday afternoon and hear with the utmost fidelity of reproduction performances by the Metropolitan troupe, from a great distance away, with no inconvenience nor expense. It is a marvelous service, to say the least.

One cannot comprehensively grasp the fact that the greatest operas by the world's best singers are brought to one's inner circles of home. To visualize, to take a better slant on the glory lightly. It might be well, if the senses can so visualize, to take a better slant on the marvel of the radio; to become conscious of the marvel and to emphasize a deeper sense of appreciation and a spirit of gratitude.

Persons anxious to protect the public morals ought to peruse some of the magazines that are being sent through the mails.

CALLED TO YOUR ATTENTION.

THE immensity of the task facing the government in the flood area comes to mind when one reflects that the flood crest that reached Cairo, Illinois, on February 4 is not expected to arrive at New Orleans until next week.

Last week it appeared likely that the Mississippi's protective system would be able to handle the volume of water from the Ohio. Certainly the hope that this would be the case was substantially bolstered by encouraging reports along the waterfront.

Citizens of Hancock county should not be under the idea that all damage from the recent flood waters has been restored or that there is no need for further relief contributions. The Red Cross is still spending money and for weeks to come will have to assist thousands of families in the area. Certainly, Americans must be interested in seeing this job well done. They must provide financial assistance.

By this time many citizens of this county have made their contribution. There are others, however, who may have overlooked the opportunity and so, we call the matter to their attention.

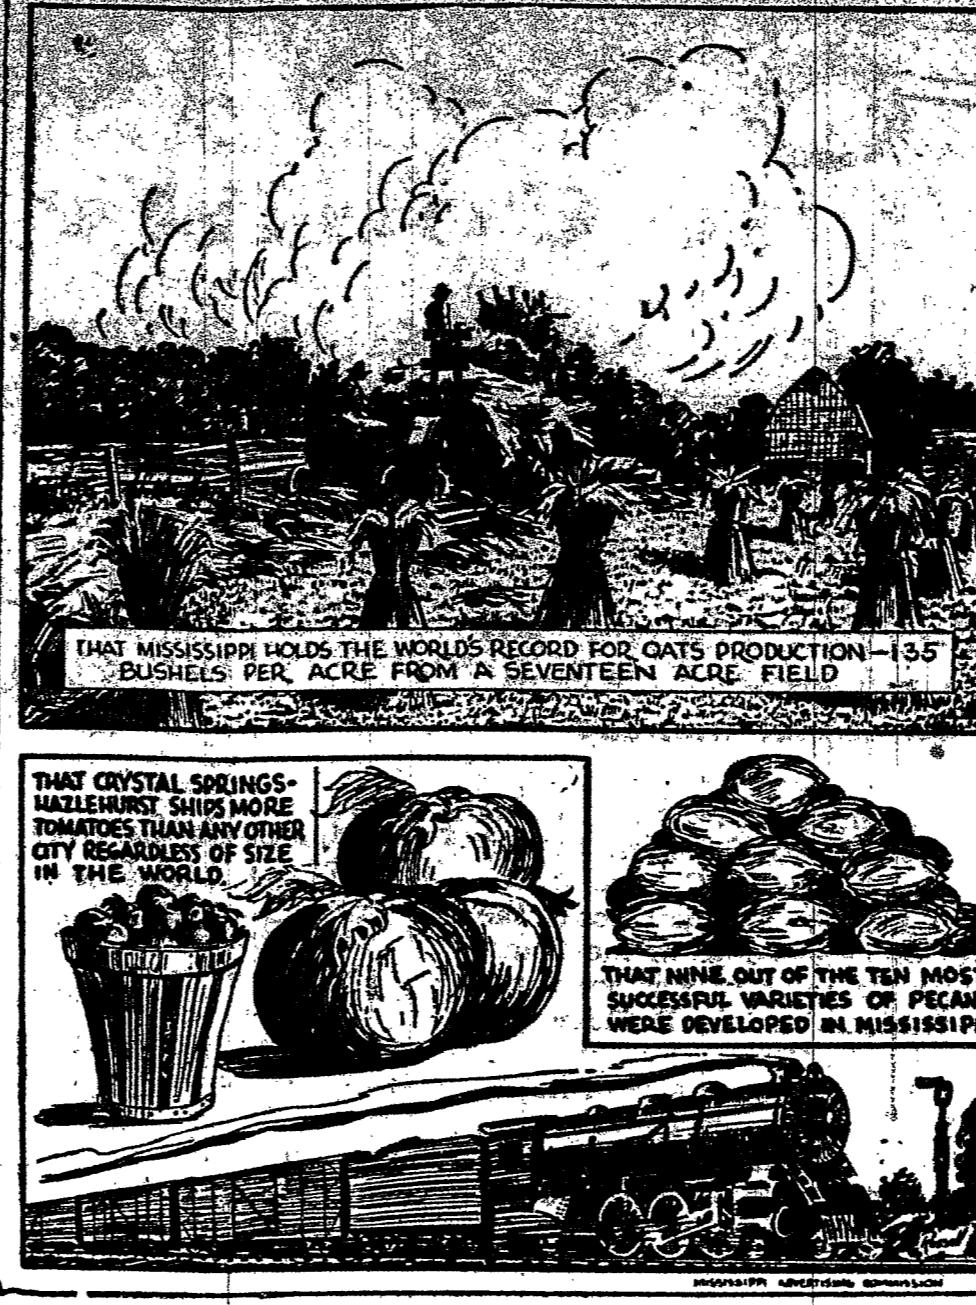

Bay St. Louis, like thousands of other communities, has its dreams, most of them depending upon somebody coming to town to provide work for our people.

NOT YET OVER.

THE mild weather of the present winter continues to excite speculation and cause conversation. People are certain that we never experienced such a warm winter.

It might be well to bear in mind that sometimes we have winter weather in spring. Besides, winter is not yet over.

PRODUCERS were warned recently to cut out all scenes of excessive or unnecessary drinking. Otherwise they will not receive the purity seal from the Hays office. This action followed a deluge of protests from many people and organizations who threatened to boycott certain pictures unless such scenes were left out.

Quick with his knife, and life holding out

He'd carve for his dear one a farewell in stone,

Put the name he used, always, and so she would know

At the end he was thinking of Fanny alone.

"Farewell, Fanny, old Pet," it was finished,

And now he could rest of the terrible pain,

Peace in his heart when death touched his eyes,

Fanny would know, his work would explain.

There when they found him, he tenderly held

To his hardwrought last word, and to Fanny they came

Bearing his message; poor Fanny, the loss for you!

His love be your comfort; he died upon your name!

THE MINER'S FAREWELL.

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo) The following poem is based on an incident which occurred in a coal mine near Barsley, England in November, 1936. After an explosion a miner, Albert Edward Iberson, was found dead, badly burned, but clinging to life to his last message to his wife, a piece of blue stone on which he had written, "Farewell, Fanny, old Pet." Old Pet was the fond name by which he had called his wife during the happy years of their married life. He had been a devoted, husband, and Mrs. Iberson said that it was like him to "think of her during the last moment of his life.

George Brent has been spending a few weeks vacation in Florida. Producers were warned recently to cut out all scenes of excessive or unnecessary drinking. Otherwise they will not receive the purity seal from the Hays office. This action followed a deluge of protests from many people and organizations who threatened to boycott certain pictures unless such scenes were left out.

Quick with his knife, and life holding out He'd carve for his dear one a farewell in stone, Put the name he used, always, and so she would know At the end he was thinking of Fanny alone.

"Farewell, Fanny, old Pet," it was finished, And now he could rest of the terrible pain, Peace in his heart when death touched his eyes, Fanny would know, his work would explain.

There when they found him, he tenderly held To his hardwrought last word, and to Fanny they came Bearing his message; poor Fanny, the loss for you!

His love be your comfort; he died upon your name!

—MARY CLAIRE BERTHELOT.

"COLLEGE HOLIDAY"
GAYEST, MADDEST
COMEDY OF YEAR

Madcap, hilarious and giddy-tuneful, gay and gorgeous is "College Holiday," at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday. You can rate it right now as the laugh hit of the season.

Headed by a half dozen of America's greatest fun makers, and supported by a cast of brilliant special performers, "College Holiday" sets a new high standard in comedies with music for Hollywood to shoot at.

Jack Benny, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Mary Boland, and Martha Raye are in charge of the laughs, and the assignment could not have been placed in more capable hands. The love interest is maintained by Martha Hunt, Leif Erikson, Eleanor Whitney, Johnny Downs, Olympia Brada and Louis DaPron, with featured roles by Ben Blue and Etienne Girardot. A chorus of beautiful girls trained by Leroy Prinz introduces sprightly new dance routines.

"College Holiday" is the story of a pair of crack-pot cultists, played by Miss Boland and Girardot, who take over a bankrupt hotel, do it over into a Roman garden, and there, to prove it out if it is possible to do away with love. Gracie Allen plays the part of Girardot's daughter. She is endowed with fifth sense which provides her with the ability, so she thinks, of determining who is best suited for whom. Benny, press agent of the hotel, brings a group of college boys and girls to the hotel—ostensibly for the experiment, but actually to rally paying guests.

In this situation almost anything could happen and does. Martha Raye, the "find" of the year, who soared to the top rung of popularity after only three film appearances, scores another smashing success in "College Holiday" with that exuberant, madcap and hilarious type of humor which is so distinctly her own.

They found there plants and shrubs set out in the fall had taken root and had burst into bud and blossom. It is the intention of Mr. Kuhn to continue planting flowering shrubs and fruit trees.

LOCAL AUTHOR WINS PLACE IN IMPORTANT BOOK

Mrs. Ella Watson De Blieux, Clermont Harbor, well-known here, is one of the writers whose work is included in "American Voices, 1936," a poetry anthology which has just been published. The volume contains mainly the work of worthwhile but obscure authors who should receive greater recognition for their literary efforts, and the publishers through this collection are introducing their writings to a large and important audience of readers throughout the country. For several of the included in the volume it may mean the beginning of an outstanding literary career and world-wide fame. Last year, in preparing the book, a nation-wide search for talented writers was conducted. Manuscripts were submitted by more than 6000 authors, but the work of only 400 of these was selected for inclusion in the volume. The publishers, pleasantly surprised by the amount of excellent poetry submitted by unknown writers and by the success of previous efforts, are now compiling a similar volume to be issued this year. Again they are engaging in a widespread search for writers of talent who might otherwise remain forever obscure. Those who are interested should write to the publishers, Avon House, 151 Fifth Avenue, New York City, for a copy of the rules of the competition.
